formly

Stripe for forms

Khangai Sukhbaatar, Salvo Bonsma and Jerry Zheng

Lets have a Race!

A The usual way

Type every field yourself

[short link A]

B Fill with Formly

One button, one connected account

[short link B]

You've typed this a hundred times

Home address for T-Mobile

4521 Brooklyn Ave NE, Apt 3B, Seattle, WA 98105

Home address for your bank

4521 Brooklyn Ave NE, Apt 3B, Seattle, WA 98105

Home address for your landlord

4521 Brooklyn Ave NE, Apt 3B, Seattle, WA 98105

Home address for your school

4521 Brooklyn Ave NE, Apt 3B, Seattle, WA 98105

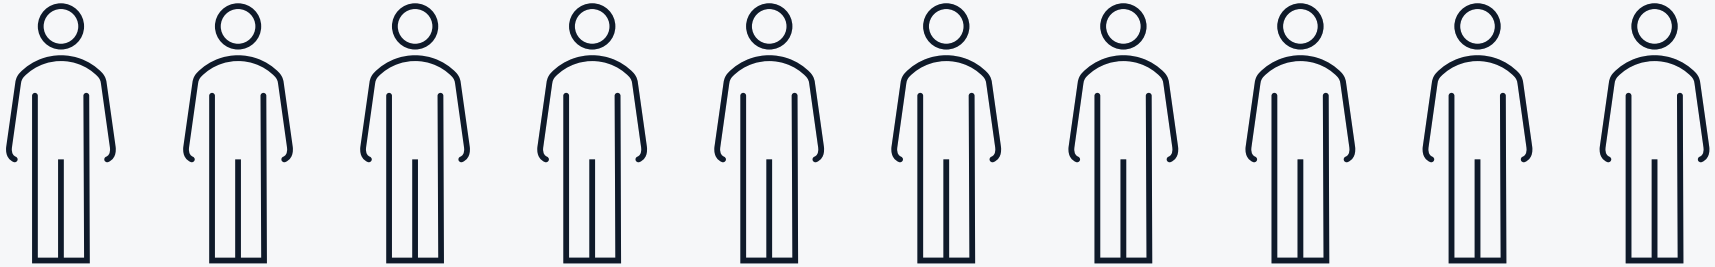

Home address for an airline

4521 Brooklyn Ave NE, Apt 3B, Seattle, WA 98105

Home address for the DMV

4521 Brooklyn Ave NE, Apt 3B, Seattle, WA 98105

Forms lose people

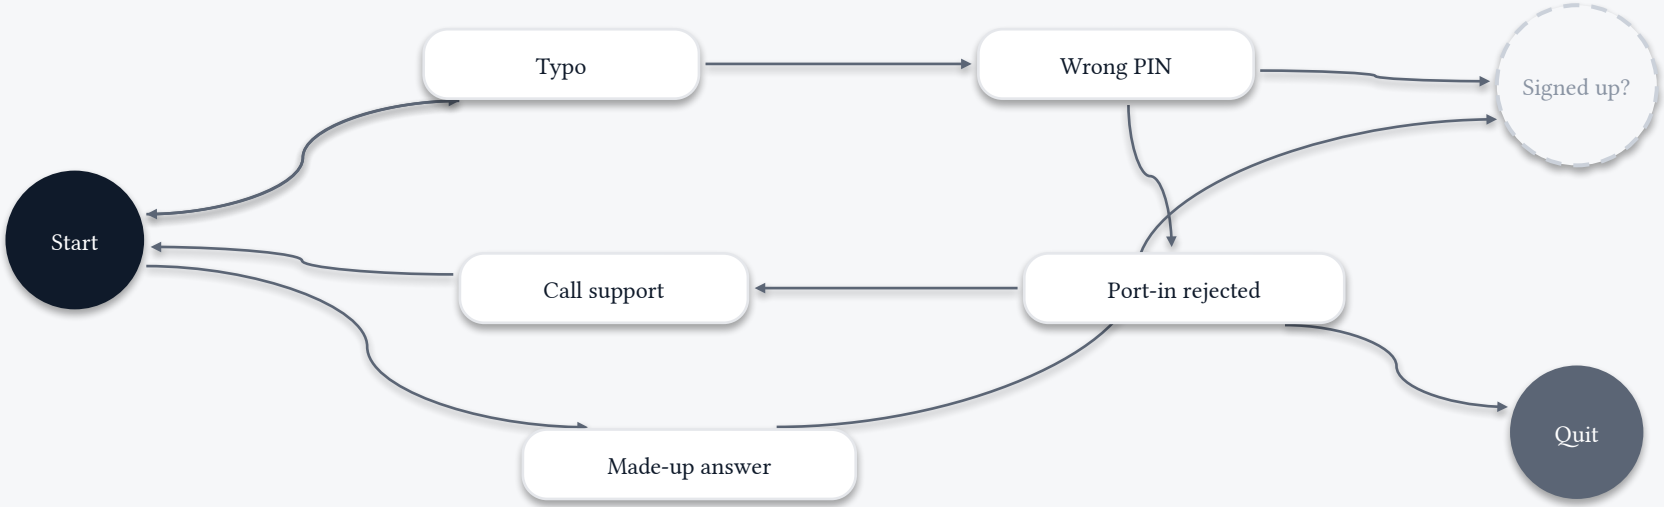

70% of online checkouts are abandoned before they finish.

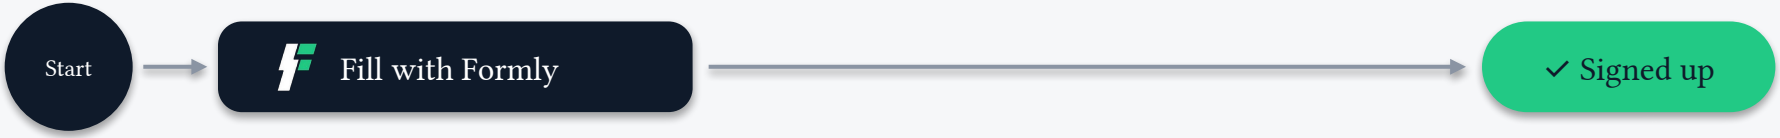

Source: Baymard Institute, 2025 (average of 50 studies)

Formly converts

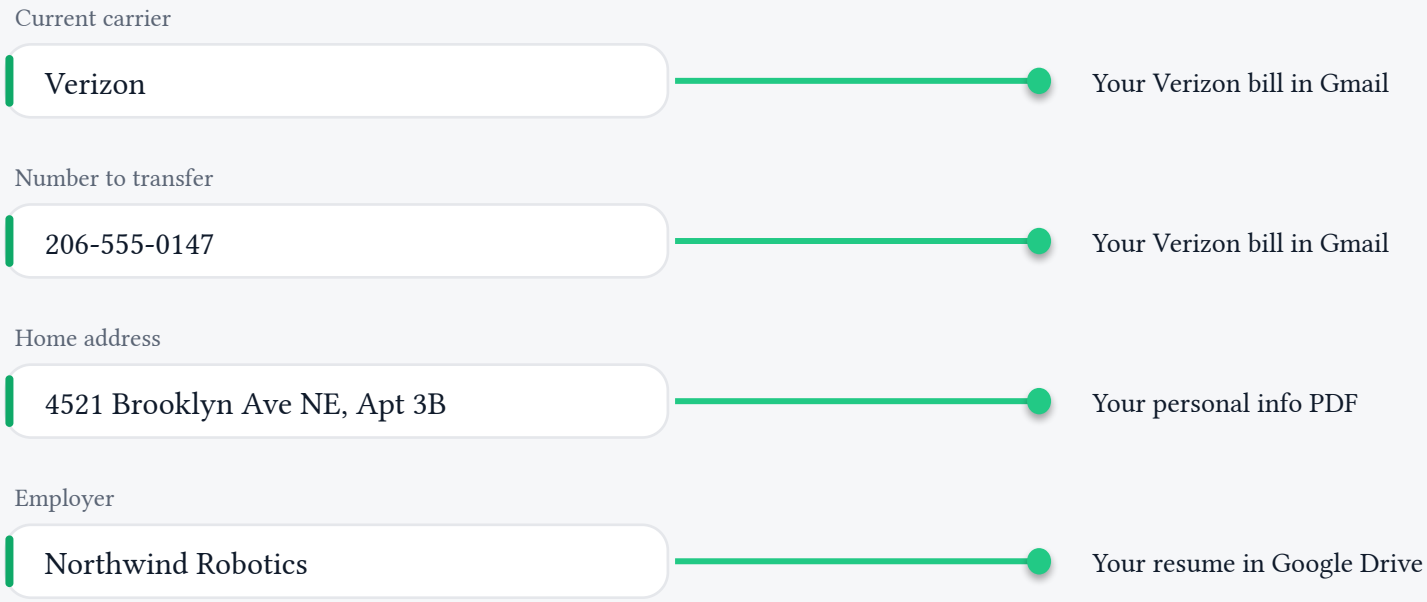

By hand

With Formly

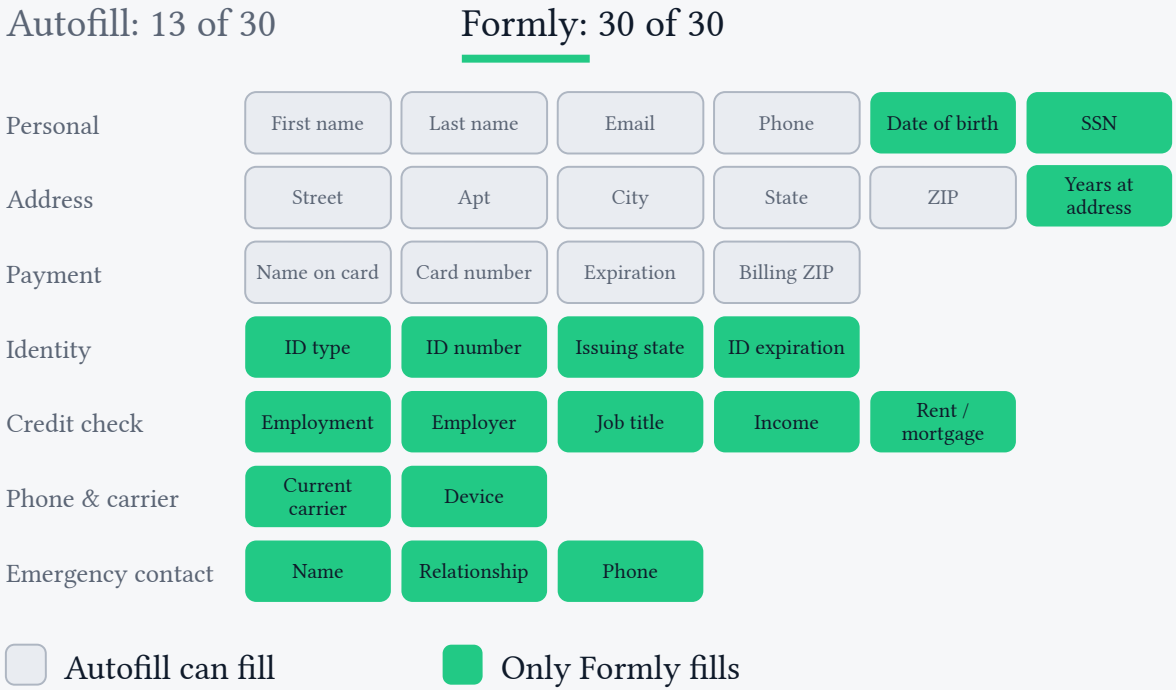

The answers already exist in your accounts

Formly reads what you connect and finds each answer, so you don't have to remember it.

Autofill stops where sign-ups get hard

47.8%

is all telecom sign-up forms convert. More than half the people who start one never finish.

Source: Zuko form benchmarks, 2025. 2.2M telecom form sessions.

0

autofill fields exist for SSN, ID number, income, carrier account number or transfer PIN.

Source: WHATWG HTML standard, autofill field names.

Bring formly to T-Mobile

The ask: a one-month pilot of Fill with Formly on T-Mobile's switch flow, measured on completion rate and port-in errors.

50%

of Americans say the hassle of switching puts them off changing carriers.

YouGov, 2023

~5M

accounts still sign up at T-Mobile every year.

Our estimate: churn + 2026 guidance

10%

more of those sign-ups finishing the form.

A conservative assumption

$940M

more revenue a year.

Our math: 10% of ~5M x $1,835